Violence and crimes against women

*123 SHRIMATI VANGA GEETHA.
SHRI RAVULA CHANDRA SEKAR REDDY:

Will the Minister of HOME AFFAIRS be pleased to state the legislative measures taken to curb domestic violence and crimes against women particularly in the light of demands of national women's organisations?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI MANIKRAO GAVIT): The crimes against women including domestic violence are already covered under the existing laws. Crimes such as rape, kidnapping and abduction, dowry deaths or their attempts, torture (both mental and physical), molestation, insulting the modesty of a woman etc. are covered under the various sections of the Indian Penal Code. In addition, there are special laws to deal with crimes such as the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1951, the Immoral Traffic (Prevention) Act, 1956, Commission of Sati (Prevention) Act, 1987 and Indecent Representation of Women (Prohibition) Act, 1986 The strengthening of the existing legislations through review and amendments is a continuous process and taken up whenever required. The views of women's organizations are also taken into account appropriately in the process.
